

THE SLAVE DWELLING PROJECT

Meet Joe McGill

The founder of the Slave Dwelling Project, Civil War re-enactor and descendant of the enslaved, is the man behind this organization.

Joe has reached ninety sites in over eighteen states and engages with diverse audiences at historic locations by conducting programs, giving lectures and spending nights in the dwellings himself.

"Now that I have the attention of the public by sleeping in extant slave dwellings, it is time to wake up and deliver the message that the people who lived in these structures were not a footnote in American history." - Joe McGill

Our Mission

The Slave Dwelling Project's mission is to identify and assist property owners, government agencies & organizations to preserve extant slave dwellings

Our Task

It is essential that the Slave Dwelling Project serves as a conduit for the identification of preservation resources for owners of slave dwellings that have a desire to save these slave dwellings

Our Goal

Is to bring historians, students, faculty, writers, legislators, organizations, corporations, artists and the general public together to educate, collaborate and organize resources to save these important collectibles of our American history

Our Purpose

To become a source for the identification of resources to track & preserve these slave dwellings
